The story so far ...

Rejecting a petition of over 2,300 names to save Bedale Library, the North Yorkshire County Council Executive decided in 2015 that the library would either have to close or be managed by the community. Not wishing to lose such a valuable asset, a group formed to work to keep the library open. In January 2017 Bedale Community Library became a registered charity. In partnership with North Yorkshire County Council Library Services, the charity helped train over forty volunteers and took over the running of the library on 1 April 2017.

As well as recruiting and training library volunteers, Bedale Community Library needs to raise funds. Friends of Bedale Community Library has been set up to help achieve this. The annual membership donation is £15.
